

Data-centered Leadership Program, consultant for content development

Background

As part of the Data for Health Initiative, the Data Impact Program \(DIP\) offers a Data-Centered Leadership program. This executive development activity supports small groups of managers responsible for leading the major programmatic and operational divisions within a Ministry of Health (or other government public health institutes). The program is designed to build the competencies of participants in using data to inform decision-making and strengthen data practices in the units they manage. The DIP is seeking a consultant who will work with the technical lead for the Data-Centered Leadership program to produce a comprehensive package of material – including training material and exercises, a facilitator guide, and a participant guide – to support the implementation of the program in various locations.

Responsibilities/Deliverables

- Develop a comprehensive package of material used throughout the Data-Centered Leadership program
 - Review, revise and standardize existing material
 - Propose and develop additional required material, including practical exercises (such as case studies) that illustrate key program concepts
 - Organize and synthesize material into a structured package.
- Develop a facilitator’s guide for the use of the material for in-person and remote delivery of the program.
- Develop a participant’s manual comprising relevant training material and activities.
- Provide concepts for and work with a multimedia designer to develop up to six short (maximum 10 minutes) online videos/interactive learning modules.

Experience and Qualifications

- Demonstrated experience and expertise in public health management or in executive leadership development
- Minimum 8 years in public health and/or data analysis (experience developing and/or training programs)
- Postgraduate degree in a relevant field (e.g., health policy and management, MBA, Public Administration, etc.)
- Prior experience working in or with government agencies
- Strong written and oral communication skills
- Strong organizational skills and well-developed attention to detail and time management.
- Adept at building trust and collaborating with people across cultures and sectors.

Assignment

This is a consultant position with an anticipated level of effort of up to 30 days total over three months, expected to start in the last weeks of August or the first week of September. Note that the contracts are executed and paid in the currency of the country where the consultant is based and that payments are tied to deliverables.

Application

Application Submit a CV and cover letter, including your daily rate, to jgascon@vitalstrategies.org by August 12th, 2022, 5.00 PM EST.